PREFACE

A šematism is more than a simple directory. It is meant to include the vital statistics of the eparchy for a given year - general, deaneries, parishes, priests and religious, students, ordinations, appointments, necrologies, etc. Some years are very informative and others are little more than address books. The Eparchy of Peremyšl' began to publish šematisms in 1828, the Archeparchy of L'viv in 1832, and the Eparchy of Stanislaviv in 1886.

An historical šematism is a compilation of much of this information over a period of time and its organization for reference purposes, thus showing a clear picture of the development of the church in the eparchy for that period.

The present work, an historical šematism of the Eparchy of Stanislaviv, covers the period from its official establishment in 1885 until the outbreak of World War II. It is to a great extent based on information from the šematisms of Stanislaviv which were published in those years, many of which are not easily accessible to the general public. The composite picture is like a snapshot of religious life in the eparchy at this period. Naturally, it is only a framework on which the real interior life was supported, but a description of the hopes, fears, joys and sorrows of the people is not possible in a reference book of this type. However, one can feel sympathy for people when their beloved wooden church burns down, or when their pastor dies, and get a sense of their joy when a new masonry church is built or the sisters come to the parish. Some of the parishes have flourished, but others have disappeared from all but the memory of the old.

The present work is a history of the past. People who forget their past do not deserve a future.

My special thanks goes to Dr. Anne Schwerdtfeger for her help with the research, writing, layout and preparation of the printing for the book.

BIBLIOGRAPHY and ABBREVIATIONS

Šematisms

- ŠemStan From 1886 until 1938, there were 36 šematisms used in the collection of information for this book; some years were not published on account of wars, etc. For the missing years it was possible to piece together most of the lacunae. In the footnote references, the abbreviation ŠemStan is followed by the year of publication in brackets.
- ŠemPerem and ŠemL'viv refer to šematisms from Peremyšl' and L'viv.

NOTES TO THE READER

TRANSLITERATION AND SPELLING

The Slavic Institute of Paris method of transliteration from the Cyrillic alphabet into the Latin alphabet has been used throughout. Because of problems in alphabetization, the special letters Č = Ч, Š = Ш, ŠČ = Щ and Ž = Ж have been used alphabetically only when they come at the beginning of a word, and then following the corresponding letter in the latin alphabet. Otherwise, there would have been great confusion in finding names in alphabetical order, since these letters, as well as others, come in a different order in Cyrillic.

Proper names of persons have been unified into a consistent transliteration from the Cyrillic alphabet, which itself underwent changes during the course of the period described. If the name was spelled inconsistently, e.g. Kurylovyč/Kurylovyc, in the index of names it was alphabetized as it was most frequently spelled, with the alternate spelling in parentheses and a "See: reference" where useful.

Names of parishes and filial churches are translated as well as transliterated. For example "Перенесення Мошей св. Николая" becomes "Translation of the Relics of St. Nicholas". Polish transliteration can be very confusing to English speaking readers, and has been avoided, except in the case of parish names, where it is included only when deemed useful, and then in parentheses after the other name or as "See: references" in the index of church names.

EXPLANATIONS, SPECIAL SIGNS AND ABBREVIATIONS

GENERAL

Years enclosed in brackets are years of šematisms in which information is found. For example, if a church was burned in [1893], it means that this is the year of the šematism in which the information is first recorded and the church probably burned in 1892. All other years are either given exactly in the sources (necrologies, for example), or can be fairly accurately concluded by context or circumstance.

There are a number of inconsistencies in the recording of years in the various šematisms, although in most of these cases, the correct year can be ascertained with a certain amount of accuracy. When it cannot, both or more reported years are given with a slash e.g. 1886/1896. I have done my best to decide how to report these years as correctly as possible.

PARISHES

With regard to information about the dates when churches were built, the churches which existed in [1938] are first given, followed by whatever information I could find about earlier churches. Many of these churches were only the last of a long succession of wooden churches, which were vulnerable to fire, and should not be understood as being the first Ukrainian Catholic churches in the city or village. Information before 1885 will be included in the third volume of this series - Historical Šematism of the Archeparchy of L'viv, which hopefully will be published in the future.

Independent assistantships are listed in various creative ways. Sometimes they are given a separate entry, but are not numbered and are included immediately after the main parish; at other times they are included in the same way as a filial church. In the first case they have separate statistics, and in the second case the statistics are usually with those of the main church. The category seems to have had its origin in the salary of the priest more than in any real condition for the church, making the category somewhat ambiguous.

The term "dependent towns/villages" is to be taken in the broad sense of meaning any locality served from the parish, be it a town, village, suburb or other part of a city.

PRIESTS

Priests were designated as married (mar.), widower (wid.) or celibate (cel.). The year given in brackets under "wid." is the first year in which the priest is designated as a widower rather than as a married priest. This information is not exact, especially when there is a gap in years available, and in some years it is not included at all.

In the column for the assignments of the priests, their chief positions in the eparchy are listed chronologically. It was not possible to include civic appointments, military awards, literary works or honorary titles. Other information is sometimes included in order to give a more complete idea of the life work of each priest, especially for priests who studied outside of Ukraine or who served in diaspora.

Parish assignments were pastor, unless otherwise noted, temporary administrator (adm.), administrator of local chapel (chapl.), assistant (ass't), independent assistant, also known as "cooperator expositus" (ind. ass't) or catechist (catech). Other assignments, such as eparchial curia positions, professor, army chaplain, etc. are specified as necessary. The category of administrators of chapels was eliminated in 1891.

In the alphabetical lists for religious priests, the monastery in which the priest resided is marked with an asterisk. For instance if a priest was reported in the šematisms as being at the monastery in Bučač for the years 1890 (a definite appointment) until [1896] (notice of his residence there in the šematism of that year), it would appear as follows: * Bučač 1890-[1896]. His chief assignments for that period are listed underneath. A word of caution: information about religious priests is very sketchy and not completely reliable, even in their parish assignments; information about other religious with vows is even less reliable. It has been included to give a general idea of monasticism in the eparchy at this period.

STATISTICS and MAPS

PARISH STATISTICS

Statistics for filial churches and dependent towns/villages are either included in the statistics of the main church or are itemized separately. When they are included in those of the main church the expression "with parish" is used. If they are recorded separately, two sets of statistics appear for the main church, e.g. those for the main church itself ("in parish") and the total statistics for the main church and all dependents ("together").

DEANERY STATISTICS

Statistics for the deaneries are reported as printed in the respective šematizms for each year, although these numbers are not always constant even when they are reported twice in the same book.

GENERAL EPARCHIAL STATISTICS

Total numbers of priests was obtainable by getting the total of married, celibate and widowed priests. The number of celibate priests has also been included separately. In the earlier years only rarely was an eparchial priest ordained as celibate, but the number of celibate ordinations grew considerably later.

The religious priests can be totaled fairly accurately because they are listed under their monasteries. Not all of these priests were working in parishes or teaching, but those who were are included in the total number of priests.

Main churches are defined as churches which are listed by number under the deaneries, whether they are parishes or chapels. When independent assistantships are listed separately they are without number, and therefore are not included in the total number of parishes, although in many cases they seem to have functioned as parishes.

MAPS

On the maps are included all the places where there were churches, either parishes (in bold print) or filial churches. The outlines of the deaneries are artificial, since there were no boundaries as such. They have been inserted only for the sake of clarity. The dotted line surrounds the churches which belonged to each deanery in [1938]. Černovec'kyj and Sučavs'kyj Deaneries have also been included although they went to the Vicariate of Maramoroš in 1922.

A number of villages have ceased to exist or have undergone a change of name. In most cases their location has been determined by their distance from telegraph/postal service, from larger cities, etc. A few (about 10 filial churches) I could not find at all. The spelling is from [1938] in keeping with the rest of the book.

INTRODUCTION

From the beginning of Christianity in Halyčyna until the 12th century, the territory which would later become the Eparchy of Stanislaviv was part of the Eparchy of Peremyšl'. It is not certain whether the Eparchy of Peremyšl' was established in the 10th century by the disciples of Sts. Cyril and Methodius, or by St. Volodymyr after the christianization of Kyivan Rus' in 988, or earlier in 899 with the re-establishment of the ecclesiastical province of Moravia, with four slavie rite bishops in Nove Misto, Nitra, and probably in Kraków and Peremyšl'. The Annuario Pontificio gives the year of establishment as 1087, the year in which was confirmed the Metropolia of Prague, to which Peremyšl' presumably belonged, although it is not specifically mentioned. It is logical that there would have been an episcopal see in Peremyšl' in the time of Prince Volodar (1086-1124), since Peremyšl' was a main center of Halyčyna in his time.

The first explicit mention of the Eparchy of Peremyšl' is in the Novhorod litopys from the year 1220, where it is stated that Archbishop Antin of Novhorod was transferred by the Metropolitan of Kyiv from Novhorod to Peremyšl', implying that the eparchy was already of importance as it included all of the territory of present Halyčyna.

In 1241, Halyč was established by Prince Volodymyrko as the center of Halyčyna, and Kosma, the first bishop, was transferred from Peremyšl'. The territory of the Eparchy of Halyč was taken from the Eparchy of Peremyšl' and included the future eparchies of L'viv and Stanislaviv. In 1540 the see was de facto transferred from Halyč to L'viv, and in 1807 L'viv was made the Archeparchy of L'viv, still including the future Eparchy of Stanislaviv.

In 1772 Halyčyna was occupied by Austria. Empress Maria Theresa (+1780) and especially her son, Joseph II (1780-1790), made a number of political changes and ecclesiastical reforms. On November 8, 1782, he issued a decree that the smaller parishes were to be made filial churches and that the deaneries were to be reorganized according to the boundaries of the political districts. Shortly after, regular permanent records (metrical books) were to be kept in all the parishes.

In 1850 the Austrian government was petitioned for the division of the Archeparchy of L'viv and the creation of a new eparchy - of Stanislaviv. After long deliberation, finally the Austrian government agreed to the division and accepted the expense entailed; then the petition was sent to Rome.

The Eparchy of Stanislaviv was established by a bull of Pope Leo XIII "De universo Domenico grege" dated March 26, 1885. To the new eparchy went 20 deaneries and 29 remained in the Archeparchy of L'viv.

The eparchial chapter or krylos was established on January 9, 1887. The chapter and the eparchial consistory were instrumental in the administration of the eparchy. The chapter was made up of the archpriest, archdeacon, custos and a group of other members (usually 3 or 4) called the Крилошани соборні or voting members, residing in Stanislaviv. Another group of consultative members or Крилошани почесні was larger (usually about 8) and included members not residing in Stanislaviv. The Eparchial Consistory was made up of members and advisors and had its own chancellor.

In [1890], of the 20 parishes of the Halyc'kyj Deanery, 8 (including Halyc' itself) were transferred to the Archeparchy of L'viv. The remaining 12 went to form part of the new Jezupil's'kyj Deanery, along with 4 parishes from the Ustec'kyj Deanery and one from the Tys'menyč'kyj Deanery. At the same time, 5 parishes from the Archeparchy of L'viv were transferred to the Ustec'kyj Deanery.

In 1922, the Černovec'kyj and Sučavs'kyj Deaneries of Bukovyna with 9 and 8 parishes respectively, passed to the Rumanian Vicariate of Maramoroš. In the late 1920's, during the Polish occupation, the political districts were grouped into larger divisions or oblasts. The Eparchy of Stanislaviv then covered most of the Stanislaviv oblast and a good part of the Ternopil' oblast.

Before the foundation of the Eparchial Seminary on January 1, 1907, most of the clergy were formed at the Seminary in L'viv where the time of study for seminarians had been shortened in 1790 from 6 to 4 years. A few promising young priests were sent for study to Vienna or Rome, and also to Innsbruck.

There was serious effort made to educate the laity as well. By [1938] there were 5 lyceums in Stanislaviv, two of which were for preparation of teachers, gymnasiums for youth in the larger cities - Stanislaviv, Bučač, Čortkiv, Horodenka, Kolomyja, Nadvirna, Snjatyn, Tovmač and Zališčyky; priests were assigned specifically to teach religion in these schools. There were local schools, varying from 2 to 7 classes, in almost every parish, where the children were taught religion as well as regular subjects.

Religious life was enhanced by organizations such as the Societies of St. Peter and of St. Paul, the Apostleship of Prayer and the Society for a Happy Death, all with widespread membership. The congregations of religious women, notably the Sisters Servants, contributed immeasurably to the quality of religious life in the parishes.

The Ukrainian Catholic population continued to grow after 1885, in spite of recurrent epidemics of various fevers against which the people had little protection. The cholera epidemic of 1894 was especially virulent. World War I caused extreme disruption among the people and clergy. Between 1914 and 1924, although 98 new priests were ordained, 190 had died.

By the end of the 19th century, the Ukrainians had begun to emigrate to other countries in the New World, and in the years up to 1914, massive emigrations had taken place - to Canada, the United States, Brazil and Argentina. After World War II, another wave of emigrations took place, also to western Europe and to Australia.

Ukrainians are now established in eparchies in Western Europe, North and South America and Australia. Several of the first priests came from the Eparchy of Stanislaviv to administer to the religious needs of the early Ukrainian Catholic emigrants. Since 1991, Ukraine has finally gained its independence and been freed from atheistic communism. The eparchies of Stanislaviv (now renamed Ivano-Frankivsk) and the Archeparchy of L'viv have again divided, and 9 new eparchies have been created – in Stryj, Sokal', Bučač, Kolomyja-Černivci, Ternopil'-Zboriv, Sambir-Drohobyč, Kyiv-Vyšhorod, Doneck-Xarkiv and Odessa.

The future is in the hands of God, the strong faith of the Ukrainian people, and the responsibility of their ecclesiastical leadership. What happens now will be our future history.

DORMITION OF THE B.V.M.

Historical data: Žukivs'kyj Deanery. In former times, there were two parishes in the locality. One (Dormition) was in the fortified town of Kazaniv, where a few Christians and Jews lived. The other (St. Michael) was located close by in a clearing of a wooded area or "korčiv", which with time was changed to "koršiv". The whole area was destroyed during the Tatar invasions. As the population grew and filled the space between the two, Kazaniv was rebuilt and it was called Koršiv also, so there were two parishes in Koršiv. Later these were joined to form one parish with two churches.<sup>37</sup> After [1897] St. Michael was a filial church.

The wooden church was built in 1843 and was blessed in 1844. The wooden parish house was built in 1846. Metrical books were kept since 1752.

There was one masonry chapel of Our Lord Jesus Christ, blessed in 1880, and 6 wayside shrines.

According to the visitation report of 1745, the newly built church was the second church in Kosiv, the first church being in old Kosiv (later burned) and there were 117 souls in Kosiv and a total of 436 souls in the parish. Formerly there were many other churches which by 1885 no longer existed; one of these was the church of Nativity of Christ. The deanery library with 130 volumes was located in Kosiv.<sup>38</sup>

ŽUKIV, Horodenka, then later Stanislaviv*ST. NICHOLAS

Historical data: Žukivs'kyj Deanery. The foundation of the parish seems to have been very early, probably before the Union with Rome.<sup>84</sup> The wooden church was built and blessed in 1710 and the wooden parish house was built in 1848. Metrical books were kept since 1745.

<sup>84</sup> ŠemStan [1887], p. 84; [1890], p. 271. There was a latin rite parish established in 1458, and since it counted only 300 souls in the late 19th century, the later conclusion seemed to be that there must have been a greek rite church as well at that time. The argument is not very convincing to me, however. Whatever the case, the parish is probably the oldest in the deanery. DB

RELIGIOUS ORDERS AND CONGREGATIONS

ORDER OF ST. BASIL THE GREAT (Basilians - OSBM)

From 1617 until 1743, the center of the Basilians was in Vilnius, Lithuania, then two provinces were established in 1743 - in Lithuania and in Halyčyna-Volyn'. The Order was suppressed in the 18th and 19th centuries, except for the Province of Holy Saviour in Halyčyna which remained under Austrian rule. The general curia then resided in L'viv until 1931, when it was transferred to Rome.

When the Eparchy of Stanislaviv was established in 1885 there were within the new eparchy 3 Basilian monasteries, which belonged to the Province of Halyčyna: 1) Exaltation of the Holy Cross in Bučač (6 priests), founded in 1712 through a benefice from Stefan and Anna Potoc'kyj, 2) St. Onufrij in Pohonja (2 priests), founded in 1659 through a benefice from Jakiv Potoc'kyj and 3) St. John the Baptist in Ulaškvci (2 priests), founded in 1740 through a benefice from Mykola Potoc'kyj. The monastery of St. Paul in Myxalivka was founded in 1895, a house [domus] of St. Joseph was opened n Zavalje in [1935] and the monastery of Christ the King in Stanislaviv in [1938]

The late 19th century was a period of great ferment in the Basilian Order. The extensive "Reform of Dobromyl" was initiated in 1882 when the monastery in Dobromyl' was designated as "Singulare Praesidium" by Pope Leo XIII and the Jesuits<sup>1</sup> were assigned to the novitiate to implement the reform. There were 20 novices in [1883-1884]. One by one the other monasteries passed to the reform - Lavriv on April 25, 1884, Krystynopil' on July 3, 1888, Žovkva in 1891, Krexiv in 1892 and Drohobyč in 1897. In the Eparchy of Stanislaviv, Bučač accepted the reform in 1893, Ulaškvci in 1896 and Myxalivka in 1895. The Basilians who did not choose to accept the reform continued their work as usual until their deaths. The last non reform monks lived in Pohonja until about 1914.

CONGREGATION OF THE MOST HOLY REDEEMER (Redemptorists - CSsR)

The first Redemptorist to become bi-ritual in 1906 was Father Achille Delaere, who had been working with the Ukrainians in Canada already for about 10 years. In 1909 two more Belgian Redemptorists became bi-ritual for Canada. Through the combined efforts of Father Patrick Murray, the Redemptorist Superior General, and Metropolitan Šeptyc'kyj, permission was obtained on June 11, 1913 to establish an eastern rite branch of the Redemptorists at Univ, in a house owned by Metr. Šeptyc'kyj. On August 21, 1913, four priests and two brothers arrived from Belgium to form the first community in Halyčyna.

During World War I, the Redemptorists were ordered to leave by the Russians, but they remained, living as well as they could with no communication with the other religious of their congregation until the Russians left. The house in Univ, which had been occupied for three years by the army, was inadequate when new members began to arrive, and in 1919 they moved to Zboiska on the outskirts of L'viv.

On January 9, 1920, a second house was opened in Stanislaviv-Hirka, and in 1923 a third house was opened in Holoska, which became the novitiate. In Stanislaviv-Hirka, the Redemptorist monastery was attached to the Church of St. Joseph.

STUDITES

Monastery of Holy Prophet Elias and St. John the Baptist

In 1901, Metropolitan Šeptyc'kyj brought together two groups of men who had been living a communal life of prayer and work close to L'viv, and in 1903 built a monastery for them in Sknyliv on property belonging to his family. He gave them their first Rule or Typicon in 1906. His brother, Kazymyr, after his novitiate at the Benedictine Monastery in Beuron, received the schema taking the name of Klementij, and was ordained hieromonk or priest in 1915 and was made superior of the monastery in Sknyliv. The monks took the name of Studites in 1916 as their typicon had been based on that of St. Teodor Studite, written in about the year 800.

After World War I, when the monks had been dispersed, Metropolitan Šeptyc'kyj collected them and gave them a monastery in Univ, Holy Dormition Lavra, which became the mother of all Studite monasteries. Before the outbreak of World War II the Studites had 5 monasteries and 4 stancyi or missions in Ukraine, including the mission in Dora [Nadnivna], in the Eparchy of Stanislaviv, which was opened in 1935.

BASILIAN SISTERS (OSBM)

Historical Background

The Sisters of St. Basil the Great trace their beginnings to the time of Jaroslav the Wise, who founded the monastery of St. Irene in Kyiv in 1037. At the time of the reform of men's monasteries, begun by Metropolitan Ruts'kyj in 1617, the sisters chose not to centralize, but remained as independent monasteries. During the 18th and early 19th centuries, as Moscow occupied territory of the Metropolitanate of Kyiv, the monasteries were gradually suppressed, until only two remained - in Slovita and in Javoriv, both under Austrian rule.

The reform was carried out in 1897-1902 under the direction of the Basilian monks, and at the Chapter of 1902 the new constitution was accepted and was approved by Metropolitan Šeptyc'kyj and in 1911-1912 from Javoriv were opened mission monasteries in the United States. In 1951 the constitution was modified and the General Curia with four provinces (USA Galician, USA Transcarpathian, Argentina and Europe) was created.

The sisters opened a school for the education of girls in the Eparchy of Stanislaviv in 1900, with 3 professed sisters and 4 novices.

SISTERS SERVANTS OF MARY IMMACULATE (SSMI)

Historical Background

The Sisters Servants of Mary Immaculate were founded in Žužel in 1892 by Father Jeremija Lomnyc'kyj, OSBM, Father Kyrylo Silec'kyj, and Myxajlyna Hordašev's'ka, who became the first major superior as Sr. Josafata<sup>2</sup>. The constitutions were approved in 1892 and the first chapter was held in 1902. In 1932 the congregation was raised to the status of papal institute and in 1934 three provinces (Halyčyna, Canada and Brazil) held their first general chapter in L'viv.

In the Eparchy of Stanislaviv, the Sisters Servants opened a houses in Samolusky in 1894 and a second house in Cyhany in 1895. After that they opened new houses rapidly throughout the eparchy, taking care of the material as well as the spiritual and educational needs of the people.

<sup>2</sup> Sr. Josafata (Myxajlyna Hordašev's'ka), born November 20, 1869, died March 25, 1919. Beatified by Pope John Paul II in L'viv on June 27, 2001 along with Sister Tarsykija (Ol'ha Mackiv, 1919-1944) who was shot by a Soviet soldier on July 18, 1944 "because she was a Catholic sister".
